

Kylee Martin

M.Sc., CFEI

Vancouver, British Columbia

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

Master of Science, Forensic Science (2021)
University of Kent, Kent, United Kingdom

Bachelor of Science (Honours), Biological Science (2019)
Queen's University, Kingston, ON

CERTIFICATION

Certified Fire and Explosion Investigator (CFEI)
Certified Fire Investigator (IAAI-CFI)

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS

Member – NAFI National Association of Fire Investigators

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Kylee is a Certified Fire and Explosion Investigator with a master's degree in forensic science from the University of Kent. She has participated in over 100 origin and cause investigations into residential, commercial, and industrial fire losses.

October 2022 to Present

Fire and Explosion Investigator, Origin and Cause
Vancouver Island, BC

- Conduct origin and cause investigations for residential, commercial, and industrial fire losses
- Identification, collection, and preservation of evidence
- Conduct witness and stakeholder interviews
- Scene photography and documentation

September 2022 to October 2023

Forensic/Fire Investigator, T. Smith Engineering

- Working with a team of individuals in the Forensic Department to conduct origin and cause investigations for residential, commercial and industrial fire losses
- Maintaining and preserving chain of custody for evidence collected

TRAINING

Fire Investigation Training Program | 2024 | NAFI

- 28-hour course as attested by the directors and instructors of the National Association of Fire Investigators International (NAFI)

Understanding Your Role in Complex Fire Investigations | 2023 | CAFI

- 14-hour training seminar, "Staying out of the Fire" Understanding your Role in complex Fire Investigations, South-Central Ontario Chapter of the Canadian Association of Fire Investigators (CAFI)

CFI Trainer.Net | 2022-Present | IAAI

- Completed 224 credit hours of tested CFI trainer courses online

AWARDS

- Global Skills Award, University of Kent, 2020-2021
- Forensic science M.Sc. Finalist Prize Award, University of Kent (2021)

RESEARCH

- Conducted an independent research thesis project with academic distinction